

An Invitation from the MBBA

We would like to invite you to the 2010 MBBA Innkeepers conference! Since you have been with us before, you already know how this works and we would love to have you back!

The Minnesota Bed and Breakfast Association Conference is April 18-20 at the Crown Plaza North Hotel in Brooklyn Center. This year we have amazing vendor space and a dedicated time for a Vendor Show. Plus again we will give you the opportunity to introduce yourself and your company during breakfast or lunch on Monday.

You can have as little or as much participation in this event as you like

- If you are already an associate member your information will be in all the conference materials. (If the application is enclosed that means you need to renew)
- And or you might send product samples and literature for the association to share with innkeepers (as a vendor by proxy)
- And or best of all come back and meet your customers and share your product line and form and continue relationships with a great bunch of progressive business people. It is a known fact that business people who invest in their education are willing to try new things and investigate opportunities for their business growth.

I know I say this every year, but this will be the best conference ever. Every year we listen to you and learn how we can make it better. Please call 651-438-7499 or email info@minnesotabb.org if any questions. Would love to see you in Minneapolis this Spring. Sincerely, Pam Thorsen and the Conference Committee for the MBBA
